

An Introduction to Transactional Analysis

Counselling Matters is proud to host a one day workshop providing an introduction to transactional analysis. The workshop will be presented by Carole Thompson, an accredited counsellor, accredited supervisor and group facilitator with over twenty years experience. Carole is primarily person centred, integrating other concepts and orientations fitting to the moment.

What is transactional analysis? This basic skills workshop will introduce you to TA and will give you insight in to why you communicate and act in the way you do. It will also help you in understand your client's world and how they navigate within it. In the workshop you will be introduced to the TA model and its application in every day life and within therapy. A certificate of attendance will be issued.

Lunch is included in the price!
